THE GRAND BARRECUE TO-DAY. We trust that every man in Shelby county, who has at heart the success of to attend the grand rally and barbecue which comes off to-day, and that whatever each and all can contribute to that end will be forthcoming. The cause, the ticket and the times demand that Beccher Accused of Rape, Indiscrimithe people-the white voters of Shelby county-shall make an extraordinary effort for success. As goes the August, so will the November elections. The issues at stake are too momentous to permit even a thought of defeat. But vic- Money and Revenge at the Bottom of tory is only to be had by labor, by constant, sleady and persistent labor, by the every effort of every white voter in the county. The committee who have the matter in charge have made arrangements on a most generous scale for the entertainment of as many as coay attend, though they embrace every man in Shelby who is known to favor the white man's cause and the white man's ticket. The Bartlett movement must be a success. Let the barbecue at Bartlett to-day be an assurance that it wift. To that end let every one attend the grand rally, the first and most important of the canvass.

Arrangements Complete for the Interuntional Riffe-Match at Creedmoor, Ltc.

Ngw York, July 26.—A correspond-ent who had a conversation with Henry H. Foster, hono, ary secretary of the Irish rifle association, writes that all the arrangements for the Jule national riflematch at Creedmoor, on the part of the Irish team, have been near; completed; that six of eight gentlemen named in the team were certain to go to America to compete for prizes; that greater interest is shown in the contest among the patrons of rifle-shooting in Ireland and England, and that the team were doirg the best they could to uphold the repu-tation they have already achieved as experts and elever marksmen; that they would leave nothing undone to win the victory in the United States; and if they did not gain the laurels, they would most willingly place them on the brows of those who best deserved them. It is not yet certain as to whether Cloneurry will accompany them to America. His coming will complete the representation of the mobility, while the other gentle-men make up a list showing that the gentry of Ireland, as well as the noblity, are not unconcerned at the result of the great international match.

Tilton's Pursuit of Beecher-The Pialuest Expose of the Case Yet Giren, Efe.

New York, July 19.—The Herald prints the statement of Samuel Wilker-son before the Beechet investigating committee, the substance of which is that in the last week of March, 1872, Mr. Tilton came to his office, and took from his pocked a warm proof-press of a letter he proposed to publish in the next issue of the Golden Age, unless Henry Ward Beecher did him justice. The letter, which was dated January 1st, was addressed to Henry C. Bowen, acknowledges the receipt of a sudden notice breaking his two contracts with the Independent and Brooklyn Union, and goes n to say that it was IN THE EARLY PART OF THE RESELLION that Bowen first intimated to him that Bowen hist intimated to him that Beecher had committed acts of adultery, for which, if he (Bowen) should expose him, he would be driven from the pulpit from that time forward. IN HIS AGONY AND BUIN, and passed by in silence and indifference, rising into dramatic rage, tramping the room from corner to corner and speaking with intense passion he declared: "I will have revenge on him, I will pursue him to his grave." It was clear to me, mays Wilkerson, that what Tilton wanted was money, and that his purpose in coming to me was to raise money. He left my office calm and happy in the prospect of an arrangement I outlined to him, which arrangement I cutlined to him, which should lumediately give him in hand the moncy Bowen owed him, restore his old relations with Beecher and Bowen, procure for him a flattering notice in the Independent, and a handsome notice in the Christian Union of his newspaper; chterprise. It was carried away without Tilton's signature. Wilkerson's statement continues as follows; "In a teenth instant. full conversation between me and Mr. Fifteen person Tilton, after the meeting on the night of April 2d, broke up, he replied to

A CLEAR-CUT QUESTION I put to him, that the only wrong Mr. Beecher had ever done him had been to address improper language to his wife, and that for that he held in his hands an ample and satisfactory written apol-ogy. I repeated to him mention of a graver injury than that, made to me by a person whose information was alleged to be derived in part directly from himself and in part at second-hand from a confession of his wife. With great-pirit he denied the truth of both of these state-ments. He called the informant at second-hand a sexually morbid monoma-niae, who had imagined every word she uttered. He sald there was not a shadow of truth in her story. He expressed amazement that any other person should and he returned to his previous declara-tion that Mr. Beecher's sole offense was improper language to his wife, and re-peated It anew, and again repeated it,

Mr. Beccher—well taken care of by me, but he had been left out in the cold, with the money due from Bowen, unpaid. I combatted this fancy kindly, and tried to soothe him and hold him to the arrangement he had made, but he flew out wild, and declared with the nimost passion that he would never, while he lived, sign a paper that would disable him from pursuing Beecher, tand he demanded a copy of the tripartite agreement that he might alter it. The efficacy of the covenant I aimed at was lost, and the compact defeated. Tilton, in modifying his paragraph, backed out of his disavowal of his imputations on Mr. Beecher and his admission that they were untrue, and carefully secured to himself the largest liberty to pursue the great preacher forever with innuendoes. My testimony before the committee shows the changes before the committee shows the changes in the tripartite agreement as originally drawn, and which all the parties to it had early approved and had promised to sign.
